Dear Neighbors and Visitors,

Welcome to beautiful Providence, Rhode Island!

Thank you for choosing to visit the Creative Capital.

There's perhaps no place more beautiful to be in autumn than New England, and Providence is a shining example. The weather is crisp and the foliage begins to turn the bright shades of orange and red that signal that fall has arrived in Rhode Island.

You'll find our walkable capital city to be vibrant in the fall as students are back on campus at our five world-class colleges and universities. From coffee shops to small businesses, to world-class restaurants, the city and the state are abuzz with students and visitors from all over the world.

As the temperatures turn colder, there's still so much to do in Providence in the winter months. Our performance venues come to life with shows, concerts and sporting events. There's no better place to spend a cozy weekend exploring local museums and galleries, to enjoy a dinner along the waterfront, and to check off all the gifts on your holiday shopping list.

With every neighborhood of our welcoming city, there's so much to see. We hope you'll enjoy your stay and will return often — it truly is a city for all seasons. Welcome to the Ocean State!

Sincerely,

Dan McKee, Governor
State of Rhode Island

PLAN YOUR ROGER WILLIAMS PARK ZOO ADVENTURE

Located amid 40 acres of beautiful woodlands, the Roger Williams Park Zoo provides visitors the opportunity to see animals from all over the globe and is home to more than 160 species of animals including a Komodo dragon, as well as zebras, red pandas, African elephants, Masai giraffes, snow leopards, bears, anteaters, flamingos, sloths, and more.

Tickets must be reserved online in advance
Plan your trip today at rwpzoo.org

Dear Friends,

Welcome to Providence — a beautiful city to enjoy the changing seasons!

We are glad you are here to experience the resiliency, creativity, and innovation of our local businesses, artists, and entrepreneurs firsthand. After a tough year and a half, Providence is open for business, and we are all so excited to safely welcome you back for another beautiful fall and winter season in the Creative Capital.

There are many wonderful things to experience and explore throughout Providence. With family-friendly activities, waterfront parks, and neighborhood walking trails — Providence has it all.

You may want to venture to our historic Federal Hill neighborhood for a world-class dining experience at one (or more) of our amazing restaurants. Then, it is just a quick trip over to our Valley and Olneyville neighborhoods, where groundbreaking art is flourishing around every corner.

If you're looking forward to returning to arts experiences, Providence is rich with performing arts venues, music, museums, and galleries.

There is something for everyone to enjoy in our remarkable city.

Thanks for visiting. Please enjoy your stay and come back to visit us again soon!

Jorge O. Elorza, Mayor
City of Providence

Bundle Up for Cool Family Fun

It's time to throw on a scarf and grab a round of hot chocolates because while the temps are dropping, the family fun is heating up in Providence. There's plenty of indoor and outdoor fall and wintertime activities to keep everybody entertained. Check out some of our favorite family friendly things to do, but be sure to check individual websites for hours, pricing, reservation info and any masking requirements.

Roger Williams Park Zoo

RWPZoo.org

Don't let a little cold weather scare you away from Roger Williams Park Zoo. Most of the zoo's animals can be seen enjoying the winter season, but if you're feeling a little chilly, warm up with a visit to the Faces of the Rainforest exhibit. During the holidays, don't miss the return of the Holiday Lights Spectacular. On select nights from Nov. 26, 2021–Jan. 2, 2022, walk along paths featuring festive larger-than-life luminous displays and more than 1.5 million illuminated lights.

BankNewport City Center/ Providence Rink

TheProvidenceRink.com

One of the city's most popular attractions comes in the form of a dozen spinning circular cars full of fun when ice bumper cars start bouncing and crashing along the boards of the Providence Rink at BankNewport City Center. If you're looking for more of a relaxing time, lace up a pair of skates and take some laps around the rink for up to three hours. The ice is open daily from November through February, weather dependent.

The Providence Flea

ProvidenceFlea.com

Whether you're looking to cross a few items off of your holiday shopping list or just want to treat yourself to the gift you never knew you wanted, The Providence Flea at the Farm Fresh RI Market Hall has you covered. Dozens of local artisans and vendors can be found selling their wares at these indoor markets so there's certainly something for any taste. You'll usually also find food trucks and cocktails available, plus live musical performances. Markets take place on Sunday afternoons and some select Friday evenings in the fall and winter. Check their website for dates and times.

Providence Children's Museum

ProvidenceChildrensMuseum.org

Let the little ones roam free among the fun, hands-on exhibit areas at the Providence Children's Museum. The museum offers learning environments and programs designed for children ages 1-11, exploring the arts, culture, history and science. The museum celebrates and values the importance of play, while embracing a wide range of learning styles and forms of expression.

FINE ART FUN FOR EVERYONE

Just steps from the Providence River on the campus of the Rhode Island School of Design (RISD), the RISD Museum (rismuseum.org) is one of the country's most renowned art museums and a must-visit for any art lover. Boasting a collection of more than 100,000 works of art and design, visitors can discover 2,300 pieces or so on display at any given time. The museum's collection features an array of prominent artists and designers including Picasso, Monet, Manet, Chanel, Andy Warhol and Kara Walker.

Exhibits are continuously rotating in and out of the museum, so even if you've previously visited, you're sure to catch something new once you return. Some of the latest exhibitions on view include "Any Distance Between Us," "On the Surface" and "Raid the Icebox Now With Paul Scott." They'll be joined by "Shahzia Sikander's Extraordinary Realities" and "Drawing Closer, Four Hundred Years of Drawing From the RISD Museum."

Exhibitions always on view include the Ancient Egyptian Galleries, Ancient Greek and Roman Galleries, Asian Art Galleries, Modern and Contemporary Galleries, and more.

A typical self-guided tour spans about two hours but you could easily spend more than half a day browsing these extensive collections. If you need a boost of energy during your visit, head over to Bolt Coffee Co. (boltcoffeeco.com) located within the museum for a fresh cup of coffee and a small bite.

The RISD Museum is open Tuesday through Sunday and is closed on Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. Advance ticket purchase and masks are required at this time to help ensure the safety of museum staff and visitors. Admission is free on Sundays and after 5 p.m. on Thursdays and Fridays (5–7 p.m.).

New Food Finds in Town

There's no shortage of places to grab a bite in Providence and it feels like a few more options are added each year. If you're looking to try some of the newest additions to the city's culinary family, check out any of the five below that opened their doors this year.

Located in the city's Innovation District (aka Jewelry District), Bayberry Garden is the sister location to Bayberry Beer Hall on the city's West Side. It features creative seasonal dishes, a sustainable raw bar, an exciting wine, beer and cocktail list, and lush garden vibes. Seriously, the indoor dining area is a plant lover's paradise!

BayberryGarden.com

If you're on the prowl for some serious homestyle soul food, look no further than Downtown's Kin Southern Table + Bar. Warm up during the cooler seasons with some Southern comfort food like fried green tomatoes, a bucket of fried chicken, fresh-baked biscuits with honey butter or a big bowl of mac and cheese. Don't forget to check out the incredible drink menu to warm up your spirits while you're at it.

KinPVD.com

Just a few blocks up the street on the corner of Washington and Empire streets is Res American Bistro. It's the perfect spot to pop in for a casual bite, a special night out or anything in between. The menu features lots of reimagined American classics along with some delicious surprises like the teriyaki bacon and an eclectic dessert menu.

ResPVD.com

Travelers with certain dietary allergies or restrictions are always welcome at 110 Grill. Their philosophy of "modern American cuisine, in a trendy casual atmosphere" is evident the second you walk through the doors. From shareable apps to show-stopping entrees, all dishes are prepared and served with allergen safety in mind.

110Grill.com

Reiners Bar and Game Room, located on the ground floor of the Graduate Providence, blends old-school charm with an immersive sports-inspired dining experience. Take on a challenger in the billiards room or see who can hit the longest drive at one of the two Topgolf Swing Suites. Catch a game on one of the 10 TVs while indulging in elevated pub food with a local twist and creative cocktails.

The Stage Is Set

It's time to once again raise the curtain as live performances return to Providence. From original shows and Broadway productions to comedians and concerts, there's something for everyone nearly every night of the week.

Please check with individual venues for ticketing information and current health and safety precautions.

The Providence Performing Arts Center (ppacri.org) is an architectural gem located in the heart of Downtown. From premier musical acts and Broadway shows, to comedians and even family-friendly specials, there's always something for all types of crowds. Highlights from this upcoming season include "Hamilton," "The Prom," "Alton Brown Live: Beyond the Eats," "Pretty Woman" and "RENT."

Just a few blocks away, The VETS (thevetsri.com) hosts an array of performances, including the Philharmonic, ballet, comedians and family shows. On Dec. 9 don't miss the return of "Black Violin," an electrifying show combining classical string arrangements with modern beats. Also in December, Festival Ballet Providence, the state's resident ballet company, brings the holiday classic "The Nutcracker" to The VETS for the first time with a brand-new production featuring magnificent sets and costumes, plus inventive new choreography.

The Tony Award-winning Trinity Rep (trinityrep.com) kicks off its return to the stage with the annual performance of "A Christmas Carol." The production is reimagined each year, so don't skip out because you think you know the story. Featuring the talents of a resident acting company, each thoughtfully crafted season offers productions that exemplify both the intimacy and spectacle that can only be found in theater.

You never know what you're going to find at the Columbus Theatre (columbustheatre.com), a beautifully restored venue known for eclectic live performances, film screenings and community events. This season's lineup includes incomparable comedian and actress Maria Bamford, the side-splitting interactive improv "Tinder Live! With Lane Moore," and "Puddles Pity Party," featuring Puddles the clown's melancholy melodies.

The Wilbury Theatre Group (thewilburygroup.org) continues to engage the community in thought-provoking conversation through original works, new spins on classics and adventurous playmaking. They'll debut a new theater space, the Wilbury Theatre at WaterFire Arts Center, this fall where they will continue to deliver a diverse array of innovative live theater. This season will include the East Coast premiere of "Lifted" and world premiere of "AntigonX."

PARKING

It's Game Time

The Dunkin' Donuts Center (dunkindonutscenter.com), locally referred to as “the Dunk,” is always buzzing with activity during the cooler months thanks to a packed sporting events schedule, prominently featuring minor league hockey and NCAA Division I basketball, along with other exciting events. No matter when you're in town, there's sure to be lots of activity inside the city's 14,000-seat arena conveniently located downtown.

The Providence Bruins (providencebruins.com) are the American Hockey League affiliate of the NHL's Boston Bruins and call the Dunk their home ice. The 2021–22 season will be the team's 30th in Providence, with 36 fun, family-friendly games scheduled from October through April. With special ticket offers for every game, fans can score savings on all the exciting matchups, great giveaway nights, and fun theme weekends throughout the season.

Also calling the Dunk home, is the Providence College Friars Men's Basketball team (friars.com). They'll hit the parquet in the pursuit of clinching another Big East Conference championship and a ticket to the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, also known as March Madness. Whether they're hosting Big East or non-conference opponents, expect incredible energy from the student section and an environment even more exciting than your typical NBA game.

Throughout the fall and winter, plenty of other events are scheduled to pass through the arena offering more fun for the entire family, including WWE Monday Night Raw on November 1 and the one-of-a-kind experience of the Harlem Globetrotters on December 30.

Great food and drink options are just steps away from the Dunkin' Donuts Center's front door making it easy to grab something before the game or to celebrate a victory. Trinity Brewhouse, Reiners Bar and Game Room, Murphy's, Union Station Brewery and Dave & Busters are just a few of the many options you have throughout downtown. Don't forget to check out GoProvidence.com/Dining for even more options.
